Informed Consent Agreement

Please read this consent agreement carefully before you decide to participate in the study.

Purpose of the research study: The purpose of this study is to better understand the ways in which people make decisions. You will be asked to answer questions where you will be required to share your experiences and make a variety of decisions.

What you will do in the study: You will be asked to answer survey questions about your subjective experiences and make decisions.

Risks: There are no anticipated risks in this study.

Benefits: There are no direct benefits to you for participating in this research study. The study may help us understand how people make decisions. We hope that, in the future, other people might benefit from this study through improved understanding of decision-making.

Confidentiality: Your data will be anonymous which means that your name will not be collected or linked to the data. The data collected by investigators will not be linked to your identity. Researchers will not ascertain identities based on demographic information. The electronic files will be kept in a locked office on a disc. The electronic data will be password protected. If we write a report or article about this research project, your identity will be protected to the maximum extent possible. In addition, Qualtrics will not maintain any identifiable information of you after you get paid.

Voluntary participation: Your participation in the study is completely voluntary. You have the right to withdraw from the study at any time without penalty. If you decide not to participate in this study or if you stop participating at any time, you will not be penalized or lose any benefits to which you otherwise qualify.

How to withdraw from the study: If you want to withdraw from the study, simply close the survey. Your answers will not be entered in our database. You may withdraw prior to submitting your answers, but not afterward because of the anonymous nature of the data. There is no penalty for withdrawing.

Compensation: You will be properly compensated for your time based on the approximate fair market rate, via incentivized questions, and/or by entrance into lottery for a chance to win a gift card or wellness related products like energy drinks or bars.

If you have questions about the study, contact:

Daniel Russman

drussman26@gsb.columbia.edu

Welcome to the study. You'll be asked to review social media for physical activity brands and rate how they represent the body. Please complete the survey in one sitting and only take once. It should take about 5 minutes or less to complete.

Your task is to analyze how a brand represents the body as a temple or as a machine in its messaging and imagery.

Definitions:

- Temple: The body is portrayed as holistic, sacred, balanced, or in harmony.
- Machine: The body is portrayed as mechanical, optimized, performance-driven, or focused on output.
- Neither: The content focuses on general marketing themes like convenience, affordability, or lifestyle, without clear reference to the body.

For each piece of branded media, assign each dimension (temple and machine) a rating from 0 to 10, where:

- 0 = not present at all in the media
- 10 = completely dominant or defining of the media's representation of the body

Please proceed to the rating task once you have read and understand the instructions.
