Breathe with the ocean. Rest under the palms. On Colombia's Caribbean coast, where the Sierra Nevada mountains meet the sea, we gather for a week of somatic practice, breathwork, and embodied connection.

- Practice on an open-air yoga deck with the sound of waves.
- Stay in jungle-woven eco-bungalows, held by palm and sky.
- Share nourishing meals grown from the land itself.

This is a retreat for slowing down, learning from the body, and being with nature in community.

 Somatic Intelligence Retreat
April 17–23, 2026 · Colombia

Where the Sierra Nevada mountains descend into the Caribbean, we gather for a week of embodied study and deep listening. This retreat invites you to move slowly, breathe fully, and learn from the land itself — through yoga, meditation, breath-work, rituals, somatic awareness, and spacious time in nature.

We'll practice on an open-air deck facing the sea, share meals grown from the region's soil, and spend time with the culture and traditions rooted in this land. There will be movement, quiet expansion, storytelling, and moments of simply being together.

♥ This is not a retreat to escape life — it is a place to meet yourself within it.
It is a homecoming.
A remembering.
A return to the version of you who lives with a heart open, feet on the earth, and soul in the lead...
If your body responded — even a little — that's the land speaking to you.
And maybe...
It's calling you home.

 Held at Gitana Del Mar, where jungle, ocean, and community coexist.
Space is limited.
